Manufacturers' Shipments, Inventories, and Orders

JANUARY 1986

M3-1(86)-1

For Wire Transmission 10:00 a.m. E.S.T. Wednesday, March 5, 1986

(All Figures in text are in seasonally adjusted current dollars)

SUMMARY. New orders for manufactured goods in January increased $0.9 billion or 0.4 percent from December to $202.1 billion. This is the third consecutive monthly increase. Defense capital goods accounted for the January increase. Excluding defense, orders for manufactured goods declined 1.2 percent.

Shipments in January increased $0.4 billion or 0.2 percent from December to $199.4 billion; durable goods were up 0.3 percent while nondurable goods were flat.

Unfilled orders in January increased $2.7 billion or 0.7 percent to $366.5 billion. The increase was primarily in the defense order backlog. Without defense, there was a decline of 0.2 percent.

Manufacturers' inventories declined $1.2 billion or 0.4 percent to $280.7 billion, the seventh consecutive monthly decline. The inventory to shipments ratio for the month was 1.41, about the same as November and December.

NEW ORDERS. The new orders increase was concentrated in the defense orders components of durable goods. Defense capital goods in total were up $3.2 billion or 45 percent to $10.3 billion.

Within the major industries, transportation equipment increased $0.3 billion or 0.8 percent to $31.3 billion, an increase in motor vehicles and parts of 14.1 percent more than offset a decline in aircraft of 13.6 percent.

Both of the machinery categories showed order declines in January; electrical was down $0.3 billion or 1.7 percent to $16.0 billion, while nonelectrical was down $0.3 billion or 1.6 percent to $15.9 billion. There was a mixture of increases and decreases in both categories. New orders for nondurable goods declined $0.5 billion or 0.5 percent to $93.2 billion, with large fluctuations in several industries.

SHIPMENTS. Shipments within the durable and nondurable goods sectors showed large offsetting increases and decreases. Within durable goods, motor vehicles and parts were up $2.0 billion or 11.7 percent to $19.5 billion, with smaller increases in lumber; stone, clay, and glass; and miscellaneous durable goods.

Large declines occurred in electrical machinery, down $1.4 billion or 8.6 percent to $14.9 billion, nonelectrical machinery, down $0.5 billion or 3.1 percent to $17.1 billion, and aircraft and parts, down $1.1 billion or 12.5 percent to $7.9 billion.

Within nondurable goods, foods increased $1.0 billion or 3.9 percent, chemicals $0.7 billion or 3.6 percent, and paper $0.3 billion or 3.5 percent. Tobacco manufactures declined $1.0 billion or 49 percent and petroleum products $0.7 billion or 4.3 percent.

UNFILLED ORDERS. The increase in unfilled orders resulted mostly from increases in transportation equipment and electrical machinery. Transportation was up $2.5 billion or 1.6 percent to $156.6 billion; excluding defense aircraft and shipbuilding there was a slight decline. An increase in electrical machinery of $1.1 billion or 1.3 percent to $83.5 billion offset a decrease in nonelectrical of $1.1 billion or 1.9 percent to $58.3 billion.

The nondefense capital goods industries as a group declined $1.1 billion or 0.8 percent to $132.7 billion. The nondefense backlog peaked in September 1984 at $137.1 billion and has been generally declining since then.

The defense unfilled orders increased $3.1 billion or 2.2 percent to $144.6 billion, 39.4 percent of the total manufacturing backlog.

INVENTORIES. The decline in manufacturers' inventories continued a downward trend which began ten months ago after peaking in March at $286.2 billion. Within the durable goods sector, which was down 0.3 percent, declines in primary metals and fabricated metals more than offset small increases in electrical machinery, nonelectrical machinery and transportation equipment. Nondurable goods inventories were down 0.7 percent; petroleum products declined $0.6 billion or 7.5 percent.

Inventories by stage of fabrication for durable goods showed a 2.2 percent decline in materials and supplies and small increases in work in process, and finished goods. In nondurable goods, a 2.8 percent decline in work in process and a 1.1 percent decline in finished goods more than offset a small increase in materials and supplies.

SCHEDULED RELEASE DATES. The advance report on durable goods for February is scheduled for release on March 25, 1986 at 8:30 a.m. and the full report on April 1, 1986 at 10:00 a.m.

^PPreliminary. ^RRevised. (n) When new orders for a prior month are negative because of cancellations, the percentage change calculation is algebraically negative, even though there is a net dollar increase from the prior month to the current month. Using absolute values the percent increase in new orders for shipbuilding and military tank vehicles in December was 152.0 percent.

¹Shipments and new orders are the totals for the period and are adjusted for trading-day and calendar-month variations; unfilled orders and inventories are as of the end of the period and are not adjusted for trading-day or calendar-month variations.

²The supplementary series are groupings of the separate industry categories: Household durable goods industries includes household furniture; kitchen articles and pottery; cutlery, hand tools, and hardware; household appliances, radio and TV, ophthalmic goods, watches, and clocks; and miscellaneous personal goods.

Nondefense capital goods include machinery, except electrical (excluding farm machinery and equipment and machine shops); electrical machinery (excluding household appliances, radio and TV, and electronic components); railroad equipment; and the nondefense portions of ordnance; communication equipment; aircraft and aircraft parts; and shipbuilding, converting and repairing.

Defense capital goods include ordnance, communication equipment, aircraft and aircraft parts, and shipbuilding converting and repairing. The defense data are comparable to those published annually in the MA-175, Shipments to Federal Government Agencies.

Note: The revisions are the differences between the month-to-month percent changes of the preliminary and final estimates. The monthly averages are the simple averages of the differences, without regard to sign, for the months specified. The advance to final percent change differences for the durable goods industries are shown in the advance report for the month.
